Purpose of role

The Assistant Dairy & Arable Farm Technician will be part of a small dedicated team based at the University of Nottingham Dairy Farm and Centre for Dairy Science Innovation (CDSI) and Arable Farm which is part of the Agri-Tech National Centre for Dairy Research.

These tasks will involve machinery operations, including operation of telehandlers, tractors, farm vehicles and associated implements; animal husbandry, including feeding, handling, treatment and observation of milking and dry cows and young-stock and sheep; work with automated milking systems; and record-keeping across the range of operational tasks. The role-holder will be expected to help in maintaining excellent standards of stockmanship, safety, health and welfare; to assist with animal work related to scientific trials and to carry out other appropriate tasks required on University Farm including a full range of arable, transport and estate operations.
